They will also have the opportunity to advertise and promote their company and services at IASIG events and in conjunction with IASIG services (press releases, mailings, etc.). Corporate members can have multiple participants, up to the number shown, at no additional cost. Additional participants can be added at the Individual Member rate.

The Individual Member class exists for composers, sound designers, and developers who want to contribute to the IASIG activities and would find Corporate membership an obstacle to participation.

For both Corporate and Individual members, dues provide you with access to the IASIG email list(s) and the right to participate in IASIG discussions for one year. Memberships renew in May or November, whichever is closest to the original anniversary date.
